THE MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT.
The popularity of the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, is coextensive with the civilization of the globe. Other articles claim to alleviate pain and distress—this course. Family physicians, Government Hospitals, Farriers, Planters, Farmers, Livery-men, &c., have practically demonstrated this fact, throughout the world. No article ever before produced such results.

THE ARTESIAN SPRINGS.
THIS fashionable place of resort for pleasure and health, has been purchased by the undersigned and thoroughly repaired and refurnished, and will be opened for the accommodation of the public on the 15th DAY OF MAY.
Being determined to keep the ARTESIAN SPRINGS HOTEL open two seasons, whether he makes money or not, the undersigned will spare neither pains nor expense to make the place what it should be, and altogether worthy of the patronage of the public.
A Four-Horse Coach will run daily, connecting with the Express Train to Picketts Station on the Mississippi Central Railroad, 6 1/2 miles from the Springs, and a hack will be in readiness at the Spot at all times to convey passengers going up on the 10 o'clock train.
A Fine Band of Music will be employed during the season.
It is expected that Gen. T. C. McMaekin will have the charge of the house. If he should be prevented from taking charge, some other competent person will be employed.

THE BURIAL CASKET!
CRANES PATENT.
THE undersigned has received a large supply of all sizes and styles of these beautiful Me-talic Burial Cases.
The Casket is the most chaste and elegant receptacle for the dead that has ever been brought before the public. They are finished in the finest style, being beautifully lined with white satin, and furnished with the finest French plate-glass, which give a full and perfect view of the quiet sleeper within.
The Casket is perfectly air-tight, composed of metal, and will last for ages.
We have now a supply of the Casket on hand, and respectfully invite our friends to call and examine them.
They have also the exclusive right to sell with in the limits of Yazoo County.

Carriage Making and Repairing.
Do you want your carriage or buggy repaired? Go to the old stand of J. J. Clarke & Co. The undersigned do not aim to make a reputation for cheap work—being satisfied, from long experience, that doing first class work at a reasonable price is the only true method of conducting a business that will prove satisfactory to purchasers and mechanics. J. J. CLARKE & CO.,

New Livery Stable.
THE undersigned, having erected a Stable, on Main Street, opposite the store of Link & Harrison, offers his services to the public—in the feeding and livery line—on as reasonable terms as any other Stable in the place.
The Stable is built on a plan to give air and light to the horse's head, which is very important for their health and comfort.
Every pains will be taken to give satisfaction to customers. Give me a trial.

YAZOO CITY, Oct. 8, '58.
Dr. A. T. SPALLINBERGER—Dear Sir:—Until about one month since, I have suffered with chills and fevers, not having escaped an attack for more than 10 days at a time for two years. A month or more since, I purchased of you a bottle of your pills, the use of which, I am happy to say, has driven the disease from my system, and restored me to perfect health.
Yours truly,

Poetry.

THOUGHTS.
Translated from the German of Edward Dorack,
BY CHARLES R. BUNNE.
Revised, corrected and republished by the Author, from his edition of April 2nd, 1855.
Winged like creations of Anaxarion,
Here past me glides the rafter-train of Hours:
Right at my side a lovely team draws on
Of ledges' egg, or sparkling golden showers;
Perhaps a thought of dying Ladion,
And of the vengeance of jealous amours,
But from the Orient strews Aurora's hand
The firstling roses over sea and land.

And now 'tis day; the terror of the night
Vacates its reign, which sober thoughts supply.
Thus oft we see what in the wizard light
Of Luna laughed, at daylight fade and die;
Like to Lemures—scarce in youthful pride,
We warm them transformed spectres flitting by.
And in the end of pleasures' wild boquets,
Repentance brings her unarted guests.
When once Demosthenes, in Louis' lap,
Orations dreamed in glorious ease and slumber,
He felt a consequent mishap,
And wisely saved his pile of golden treasure
I will not take to Tartarus a step,
For one brief moment of voluptuous pleasure!
Twas thus he spoke; and in a time as brief
He turned away and took from Corinth leave.

Oh, avarice, that plucks but profit's rose!
Who should repent that one has lived and revel'd?
Does spring repent of changing wistly prose—
On fresh green boughs, where wreathlets hang dishevel'd?
Must every pleasure which around us grows,
Be pierced to find that part at profit level'd?
And does not weigh on our hearts a portion—
A drop of bliss—more than of pain an ocean?
And thou, whose brow grows dark at misanthrope's strain—
Cold, stoic one, cook of a prey's crust!
You bruise and soil the butterfly, to gain
To little fact:—what wails him o'er the dust,
Oh, would the solar compass' golden rein
To the while these charioter's entrust,
Twin sister's link'd—Romance and Poetry!

No grief is mine. As memory will even Awe emotions o'er-faded love,
So, also, here, the oak by lightning riven,
Waves yet for years its boughs to skies above.
The dear one, who creates a moment's heaven—
The sweetheart, who to-day our breast can move—
She leaves the bosom where she once would rest
For years and years with sweet remembrance best.
Should Semele repent the blissful day,
When Cronion's gaze dispell'd the dreamy gloom?
The poor Pappilo on the dazzling ray Has burn'd his wings; consigned him to the tomb.
He lived awhile—'twas so his will they say:—
Aye! well to those whose lives bid morals bloom!

The winter weeds at spring, but Age will dream
Itself to Youth again in memory's beam,
No grief is mine! Each impulse I received
In hours brief, will ever thoughts control;
And had I each for centuries conceived
Not bolder could they stand before the soul,
The winter's poor—with many wounds aggrieved;
But fortune heat, then hastens to the goal,
Oh! frown then not, if in life's busy hours
I seek my garland with a few flowers.

Shooting Affair.

Our town has been the scene of a great deal of excitement during the week. On last Monday morning a difficulty sprang up in front of the Union Hotel, between Messrs. Samuel M. and Victor W. Thompson and Messrs. R. H. Pardon and Allen B. Coffee, the two latter of whom arrived in Lexington the night before by stage. Shot-guns and pistols were freely exhibited, but both parties were arrested and bound over to keep the peace before a collision took place.

During the day another difficulty originated between Mr. Coffee and Messrs. Thompson, at the same place, on which occasion pistols were freely used by both parties, and a number of shots fired, both parties, however, escaped unharmed—which appeared to be almost miraculous, when the position of the parties was considered.

Mr. Coffee was re-arrested before Messrs. Wilson and Deaman, Justices of the Peace, and bound over in the sum of $500, with two additional securities in a like sum, to appear at the next term of the Circuit Court. Messrs. Thompson were also re-arrested before Mayor Barbour, and by him discharged.—Lexington Advertiser, 1st inst.

SUFFERING OF A WOUNDED AUSTRIAN.
A correspondent, writing from the seat of war, says:
After having gone over the ground near the village, I entered several of the houses which had been sacked by the Austrians. In one of them a wounded Austrian soldier had been discovered only two days before. A ball had passed through his thigh, and the unfortunate man had the resolution to remain unattended for four days before a large wine cask, without food, and suffering severely from his wound. He was half dead from pain and fear, and yet dared not show himself. The night after the battle, he had strength enough to dress his wound by covering it with a colored handkerchief, but the dye of it had brought on violent inflammation. He is now in the hospital at Voghera. The fortune shown by the wounded Austrian during four days of privation and suffering has its source in the exaggerated fear which had been excited in his mind with regard to the French soldiers. The Austrian Generals have represented them to be so many savages, and stated that they put all their prisoners to death.

WHAT A JEALOUS WOMAN DID BEFORE SHE FAIRED.—In Milwaukee, Wisconsin, last week, a lady, returning from a morning drive, on approaching the room usually occupied by herself and husband, heard voices. She stopped, listened, placed her eye to the key-hole, and saw, to her horror, a woman standing on the floor, and her husband in the same room, fixing a shawl over her shoulders. Enraged at the infidelity of her husband, she went to the hall, took down a loaded shot gun, returned, cocked the gun, opened suddenly the door, and deliberately shot the strange woman in the back. Her husband screamed, when the excited and abused wife fainted. On having returned to consciousness, she learned that the woman who had supplanted her in the affections of Mr. — was one of those frames for exhibiting shawls and mantillas on, which he had that morning brought up from the store to have returned by his wife, in her usual taste style. Not finding his wife in, he was looking at the figure, and fixing it up as a surprise when her sudden jealousy like
